Eisenhower's birth to be celebrated

Rep. Bruce Smith said today that plans are in place for the celebration of the centennial of the birth of Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Born October 14, 1890 in Denison, Texas, and raised in Abilene, Kansas, Eisenhower graduated from West Point in 1915 and went on to command Allied troops in Europe from 1943 through the end of World War II.

In 1952 he was the successful Republican candidate for president and was reelected in 1956.

Eisenhower spent World War I commanding the Army's tank corps at Camp Colt in Gettysburg. In 1950, fondly recalling Camp Colt days, he purchased a small dairy farm near the Gettysburg Battlefield. The farm was the first home that he and his wife (Mamie Dowd) ever owned and it was the only truly permanent home the Eisenhowers were to have. The Eisenhowers spent the rest of their lives at the farm. He died in 1969 and she died in 1979.

The farm was the site of important official visits by many heads of state including Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, British Prime Minister Sir Winston Churchill and French President Charles DeGaulle.

Smith said that during October there will be an exhibition of Eisenhower papers in the Musselman Library on the campus of Gettysburg College. From Oct. 10-30, the college's Schmucker Hall Gallery will host the Dwight D. Eisenhower art exhibit.

Activities on Centennial Day, Sunday, Oct. 14 include a concert and an address by D. David Eisenhower II.

In addition to events in Gettysburg, plans are being made for a joint session of the Legislature honoring Eisenhower in late September or early October.

He said additional information may be obtained by contacting the Eisenhower Centennial Commission at P.O. Box 210, Main Capitol Building, Harrisburg, Pa. 17120-0022. The telephone number is 717-783-8320.

School Update

by Chris Flohr

NHS was certainly more mellow and serious this past week. It seems hard to believe that the actual school year has started and the euphoria of being able to have fun at school has somewhat worn off. Everyone now remembers that school is not their favorite place to be.

This week Autumn officially began. It seems like the start of Autumn signals the teachers to start the "Report Season."

Everyone knows what Autumn brings (cooler weather, fall foliage, etc.), but only students know what the "Report Season" brings. It's the time of year when all teachers seem to get together and all assign reports and or projects, all at the same time. Almost everyone has a project or report to do, and a chosen few have two or three.

High school students aren't the only ones feeling the crunch of projects. Rumor has it that, middle school scholars and even elementary students also feel the effects of the "Report Season."

Another group of people not lucky enough to escape unscathed is the parents.

Parents, especially in middle school and elementary school, feel obliged to help their children. Many parents help, usually to make sure the kids do their projects correctly. Often they end up doing more of the assignment than the student.

Some parents help because it gives them the feeling of being in school again; some do it because they're interested in the subject, and other parents just do it for lack nothing better to do.

Something a bit more pleasant for students is the "Honors Pass". An "Honors Pass" gives a student with an 88% or better grade average a chance for some freedom.

The pass allows students to spend their study hall time in the lobby or even outside. It relieves the monotony of sitting in a study hall bored to death. Any student at NHS will tell you that sitting alone in study hall, with no one to talk to, is possibly the most awful feeling one can experience.

Before I forget, Homecoming is next weekend. The Homecoming football game on Friday, October 5, pits our Bears against the Middletown Blue Raiders. Saturday, October 6, is Northern's annual Homecoming dance. Dress is semi-formal and a disc jockey will spin records for the entertainment.

Homecoming weekend usually brings out the homesick college freshmen who just need an excuse to come home - just kidding.

It's really great to see everyone from the previous few years' senior classes. If you long to see old pals, this Homecoming weekend is for you.

Lady Polar Bears up and down

By John Middlekauff

Someone once asked me what I considered the most fascinating aspect of High School athletics. My reply than as now is really simple. "The predictable unpredictibility of the athletes." It is true, on one day they can raise you to great heights, and on the very same day push you down to depths of despair.

This came back to focus for me this past week, while covering the Northern Field Hockey Team, here is the story.

Tuesday (9/18). Northern travelled to West Perry to engage the Lady Mustangs. It has been a little bit of an off year for West Perry, usually a powerhouse in Mid-Penn field hockey circles, so they came into this game with Northern without a win within the Division. That fact was soon wiped out, as the Lady Mustangs scored two first half goals and made them stand up for a 2-0 decision.

It was not a particularly good effort on the part of the Northern lasses. Forced to play most of the game in their own end of the field, the Lady Bears just couldn't generate much offensively at all. A great deal of credit for that, must go the Lady Mustangs for the way they would "mark-up" the Northern players. That means that they play very closely and aggressively, not giving their opponents room to move. The Lady Bears also saw the defense be stonewalled at their effort too. Generally, this was a contest in which West Perry showed that their basic skills are more advanced than Northern's.

On Thursday (9/20), the Lady Bears played host to Division leading Big Spring. It was quite a game! Northern played a superb game! As a matter of fact, it is quite easy to say that the Lady Bears played much better than their opponents. Northern's territorial advantage right from the get go, resulted in the Lady Bears opening an early lead on the strength of Beth Strayer's goal 1-0. Even though they had played most of the first half in the Lady Bulldogs' end. Northern wasn't able to keep Big Spring off the scoreboard and a 1-1 tie existed at half-time.

Northern played Division leading Big Spring to a 1-1 tie last week in a game that went into a sudden death overtime.

The entire second half was a well played contest, and it was nip and tuck, but neither team could score. In overtime, Big Spring was able to put on early pressure but the Lady Polar Bears were able to hold them off. Late in the OU Period Northern had a chance to score and pull off a major upset. But a slight hesitation inside the circle, in front of the Big Spring goal, caused that attempt to be checked. Final Northern 1, Big Spring 1. So from the depths against West Perry to the heights against Big Spring. Northern Field Hockey was on another rollercoaster ride.

Friday (9/21), the girls hosted Mechanicsburg and fell to the "Northern Jinx". It seems that Northern's teams particularly the girls, have had a great deal of trouble playing back to back games on consecutive days. Against the Lady Wildcats, it was no contest as Northern fell 5 1. Beth Strayer's fifth or sixth goal of the season was the only consoling feature of the game. Once again it was lack of aggressiveness, standing around, or bunching up that handicapped the Lady Bears effort.

Northern now reaches the midway point of the season with four straight away games. On Tuesday (9/25) Northern will travel to take on a tough but unpredictable Susquenita team. On Friday (9/28), the Lady Bears step out of the Division and Mid-Penn play by travelling to Gettysburg to take on the Lady Warriors of the Blue Mountain conference. On Monday (10-1) and Tuesday (10-2) of the following week it's back to back "Natalian Rockette" time again. First an out of league contest with Delone and then a return engagement at Boiling Springs. It would be an interesting next four games for the Lady Bears.

Why Lamb and Rice?
For a variety of reasons, such as allergies, some dogs have a hard time digesting regular types of dog foods. The problem is often related to the protein sources of their food, which may be poultry, fish, beef, or grain products.
Fortunately, you have alternative products like Wayne® Sensible Choice™ Lamb and Rice Formula.
Sensible Choice combines lamb—a hypo-allergenic, highly digestible source of protein—and rice, along with other necessary nutrients, vitamins, and minerals to create a dog food high in palatability, nutrition, and digestibility.
With a 25% level of protein and 12% fat, Wayne Sensible Choice is ideal for active and working dogs, and for those dogs that require the digestibility of lamb and rice.
